PAULINE BUS? GETS MARRIED AND A LITTLE BOY IS ANGRY

Pauline

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Aug. 4.—Fascinating Pauline Bus has received a letter of woe from a little boy, to whom she writes frequently.

He is very angry with her! He writes: "I didn't want you to get married. I told you I was going to marry you myself. I don't like you so much now."

Pauline has apologized and hopes the box of candy she sent him will mollify her youthful admirer.

APPEARANCES.

Jinks—Just found Willie industriously reading the bible.

Hinks—That so?

Jinks—Yes, and when I congratulated him on improving himself he said he was looking for a name for his new pup!

Why do human beings prefer hen's eggs to duck eggs?

Confessions of a Wife

(Copyright, 1915 by H. E. A.)

"I have found out what you say is true," said Mr. Stuart.

I looked up in surprise. Was it possible that this man had tried to buy love and because he found that it was only the imitation that had a money value he was unhappy and unsatisfied?

He must have read something of my thoughts in my face, for he said smilingly: "I am afraid I am presuming on your good nature, Mrs. Waverly, to tell you the longing of a lonely man. But I could not help seeing what a delightful coterie Jim had fallen into. Mr. and Mrs. Symore are charming and your friend Kitty (I did not catch her other name) is most pliant and fascinating. Your sister Mollie—she is your sister, isn't she—strikes me as being a wonderful girl, so pretty and yet so independent. My long stay abroad has made me forget the wonderful frankness and sincerity of the American girl. I am sorry that I am not going to be able to meet the husbands of Mrs. Kitty and yourself. Jim has told me much about yours whom I gather is his best friend."

"Kitty's husband is a preacher and a settlement worker," I said.

"What!" Mr. Stuart looked at her intensely. At that moment Kitty was at her gayest. She had insisted upon driving the seven-passenger car and with Jim beside her we were breaking the speed limits whenever it was possible to evade a policeman. Her laugh was ringing out at some sally of Jim's and altogether she was the irresponsible Kitty of old. I felt a little cold shudder as I thought of her coming motherhood and wondered if she would ever be anything but the eager pleasure loving child she was now.

"Does Mrs. Kitty also do settlement work?" Mr. Stuart asked.

"Yes," I answered. "Her husband says she is a great help to him. It is only when she comes over here among her old friends that she sheds her duties and puts on the old row of irresponsibility and love of the passing pleasure."

"I see how it is; you know her and love her; you know her irresponsibility would die if she did not have this outlet once in a while.

"Is not this so? I have already found you are the good fairy of this little crowd."

ACTED AS A WET BLANKET

Indignant Lady's Rebuke Sounded Somewhat Incongruous, but Playgoers Will Understand.

It was a sweet, sad play, and there was hardly a dry handkerchief in the house. But one man in the gallery, "among the gods," irritated his companions excessively by refusing to take the performance in the proper spirit. Instead of weeping, he laughed. While others were nipping their eyes and endeavoring to stifle their sobs his own eyes brimmed with merriment, and he burst into inappropriate guffaws. At last the lady by his side turned upon him indignantly.

"I don't know what brought you here," she coddled, with streaming eyes, and pressing her hand against her aching heart; "but if you don't like the play, you might let other people enjoy it!"

White straw hats may readily be cleaned by rubbing them over quickly with stiff nail brush, wet with warm water and a little castile soap. Wipe and rinse quickly and then press with iron into shape.

Betty Brown Sketches Gown That School Girl May Like.

SUNLIGHT.

Sunlight is one of the best family physicians, but this does not mean that one should broil all day long in the hot summer sun.

However, there should be sunshine some time in the day in every room in the house, for it is health to the mind as well as the body.

Sunlight is the best cleanser the housewife can employ. And summer time is the time of all times to open wide the doors and let the sunshine in.

Lack of sunshine-cleanliness produces house odors which, though not always harmful, are not pleasant. The quick remedy for this is a good sunning. Washing can only be done at intervals, while sunning is usually an easy daily process.

Sunlight is the best means of keeping bedding sweet. It will take the moth out of the clothes that have been stored away. It will freshen books which have been packed away in damp places.

Sunlight will also toe up the human system if a person in the summer time will get out of doors and bask in it daily—but in moderation.

Clothes worn next to the skin should be changed every day during the warm days of summer time. Underwear worn during the day should not be worn while sleeping. It binds the body and prevents perfect relaxation and rest.

That Price Tag on New Fall Hat.

(BY BETTY BROWN.)

Save up your pennies—your dollars too, and also store up some courage for there's a shock coming to you in the price tag of the new fall hat.

French velvet which comes from abroad, and hatters' plush which is scarce and very expensive will be used lavishly by milliners during the autumn season.

Flowers of metal tissues in glorious color tints, and of velvet are being brought from France, and anything that comes from France or from any other place "over-seas" will be paid for dearly by American women.

Though 'tween season hats may be wide of brim, the "melancholy days" of late September will bring the brimless hat—a small affair of satin with a narrow rim of velvet or plush encircling the high crown.

The new fall hat will be ribbonless. Velvet flowers combined with ostrich, coque plumes, rosettes of white velvet or yarn will deck milady's bonnet, but ribbon will be noticeable by its absence.

If the camp teapot has a musty odor fill the pot with boiling water and add a teaspoon of washing soda. Allow to stand three hours, then boil for ten minutes, wash and rinse thoroughly.

Air the beds every day. Few people realize the amount of effete matter thrown off through the skin by perspiration.

Wipe a varnished floor once a week with a soft cloth wrung out of lukewarm water.

One of the best preventatives is a good disinfectant. You cannot afford to take chances with cess-pools, vaults or disease breeding spots at this season.

We have all kinds of disinfectants here and the cost of any of them is very small compared with the good they will do.
